

The FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections. The amount of unwanted calls in the past had been as high as 10 per day. This borders on harassment. Now I receive maybe 5 a month. And these are from bonified charities. How would you like to have 4-5 people pounding on the door of your home between 5-10 pm everyday. This is a legitimate comparison.

Please consider Indiana's law for a national guideline.

Eric Morrison